Fund Review Equity markets rebounded strongly from the low on October 4th. In fact, for U.S equities , October ranked among the best performing months in history. The Fund had a strong month, gaining 5.6%. This compares to the TSX Composite and TSX Venture index returns of 5.6% and 10.1% respectively for October. The Fund has returned 9.7% year to date.

The Fund is well diversified across sectors with 36% invested in technology including biotech/pharma, 28% in energy, 27% in metals and 9% in precious metals. The Fund remained fully invested.

The Fund remains fully invested and well positioned to capitalize on a rally in equities which remains our prediction for the remainder of the year.

Outlook As predicted in our recent commentaries and our Special Market Commentary of October 10, 2011, equity markets have rallied strongly from the lows over recent weeks. The S&P 500 index is already 17% above the October low while the TSX has risen 14%. Economic data continues to be supportive of our view that the U.S. and Canada will avoid a recession in the near term. The media and market commentators seem to also be coming around to this conclusion. Positive steps toward a containment of the European debt crisis has been one of the catalysts for the strong equity market returns. In addition, third quarter earnings reports have been quite strong which supports our view that equities remain attractively priced in the context of the macro situation. Approximately 75% of S&P 500 companies have beaten earnings estimates for Q3. Many of these companies increased forward guidance. This is very supportive of our bullish outlook. All of our funds have been fully invested from the recent market lows. With record high earnings for the S&P 500, it would normally be fair to assume that equities would correspondingly be at all-time highs. However, this is not the case and in fact, all time highs would require a further gain for the S&P 500 index of 26%. Many investors believe that the current market strength is merely a bear market rally. Whether this is true or not will only be determined over time. Equity markets are rallying strongly as we have previously predicted and we believe this strength will continue. It is quite possible that the major equity indices will experience new highs in the coming months.

Perhaps the best is yet to come.

Regards,

Steven Palmer, CFA
President and CEO

Investment Strategy

The AlphaNorth Partners Fund (the “Fund”) is a long biased small cap hedge fund focusing primarily on Canadian companies. The Fund’s investment objective is to maximize returns over the long term through superior selection of principally Canadian securities. AlphaNorth believes that superior long term investment returns are achievable by exploiting inefficiencies in the Canadian small cap universe through careful security selection on both a long and short basis. Fundamental analysis of companies is used in combination with technical analysis techniques, which has proven to be successful, to assist in the timing of buy/sell decisions. The firm combines both a bottom-up and top-down strategy in the selection of investments offering the best risk/reward characteristics.
